FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Evan-Moor Introduces Daily Practice Interactive Lessons

Evan-Moor introduces daily courseware classroom licenses for only $19.99 per year.

MONTEREY, CA (January 22, 2015)—Used in over one million U.S. classrooms, Evan-Moor’s daily practice resources have been helping students acquire language, reading, and math skills and prepare for standardized testing through the effective model of frequent, focused practice. Now these daily practice titles are available digitally—for only $19.99—for an annual courseware classroom license. Teachers can use these interactive lessons for whole-class or small-group instruction.

For a limited time, each courseware classroom license includes a corresponding teacher’s edition e-book to provide teachers with student pages to accompany the daily lessons.

“Evan-Moor’s daily practice courseware improves students’ understanding of standard-aligned skills while also providing a resource for daily formative assessment,” said Bill Evans, co-founder and CEO of Evan-Moor Educational Publishers. “We are pleased to offer courseware at an affordable price to help teachers adopt familiar content in a digital format that is easy to implement in their lesson plans.”

Watch this short video for an overview of daily practice courseware.
